As I was saying in comments, you don't have this problem in your main app because of the predefined gravity and padding. It seems that you are trying to mimic the layout of an app that would have a completely different design philosophy and this is why it is a bad idea to try to force that design. Usually what is done when you want to do that (animation is a special case and not the only one) is to translate the canvas with a setTranslationX and a setTranslationY Next you have to check if it is in a "dead" area of the screen: there are cases where a button is in the bottom of a view and it does not get any
